

West Canada Section Scholarship

The West Canada Section of the Ninety-Nines has contributed over $30,000 towards supporting women's dreams since 1995. We offer a scholarship to help women as they work towards achieving their aviation goals.

Scholarship Eligibility

The annual $1,500 scholarship is open to pilots and non-pilots and non-99s residing in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Yukon, the Northwest Territories, and Nunavut.

Scholarship Categories

There are three purposes for which women can apply for a scholarship:

1. Advancement of flight training

An applicant wishes to advance her flying capabilities. She must possess the minimum of a valid private pilot license at the time the application is made.

2. Educational or research project

The applicant works on a project which will investigate or promote the advancement of women in aviation and enhance general understanding of our many roles. This project should result in the production of materials or design of a program which will educate women about the possibilities and challenges of careers in aviation. This applicant is not required to have a pilot's license.

3. Advancement of a career in an aviation-related field

The applicant wishes to advance her career in a non-flying field, such as aircraft maintenance engineer, avionics technician, aeronautical engineer, etc. This applicant is not required to have a pilot's license.
